

Single-vector orientation of literary-moral and medical-social approaches to analysis and overcoming the problem of violence against women

Muslimova N., Sabirov R., Razzhivin A., Pashkurov A., Komar N., Dulalaeva I.
Kazan Federal University, 420008, Kremlevskaya 18, Kazan, Russia

Abstract

© Serials Publications. The article explores the acute and urgent problem of modern civilization – the problem of violence against women in the context of the most important issues of culture and sociology of society. The key aspect of the authors' interest is the development of ways to resolve the emerging contradictions. Alongside the consideration of gender issues, the method of axiological analysis is applied. The first section of the article is devoted to the study of the problem as a whole and to a systematic review of the main methods of scientific analysis that are applied. The most complete and adequate vision of the problem of violence is provided by the synthesis of data received by natural medical and humanitarian sciences. The research of the problem of spiritual healing that plays one of the decisive roles in counteracting the phenomenon of violence against a woman in society is introduced through the study of the extensive historical and literary material. The second section provides the necessary insight into the issue by involving the data of Russian literary culture genesis. It is focused on ancient Russian literature and its traditions in the following epochs (from Alexander Pushkin to Fyodor Dostoyevsky and a number of other writers). The methodological dominant of this stage is the value approach. The subsequent third section of the article is linked with the second section by the methodology of comparative-typological analysis. A set of the 18 th – 21 st centuries' social theories of violence as a painful and negative phenomenon in the socio-cultural sphere of society is considered here. A species within this complex process is violence against a woman. One of the most radical solutions to the most acute social problem of violence against women is the concept of feminism. The next special part of the article is a systematic review of the main stages of the research approbation. The final fifth section of the article is a set of the proposed recommendations and perspectives. They are connected with the applied tasks of social medicine and with the general moral and cultural orientations of modern society through the concepts of upbringing and education.

Keywords

Axiological analysis, Gender approach, Healing, Medicine, Social problems of violence, Synthesis of literary studies

References

- [1] Aksiology as a method of research of a work of art. (2009). Kaliningrad, pp. 26 - 31, 60 - 70.
- [2] Bukharkin, P. (2014). The Russian idea" in Russian literature. St. Petersburg: SPbPDA, pp. 47.
- [3] Erll A., (2005). Kollektives Gedächtniss und Erinnerungskulturen. Stuttgart, Weimar: Metzler, pp. 396.
- [4] Fedotov, G. (1991). Saints of Ancient Russia. Moscow: Moscow Worker, pp. 385
- [5] Foucault, M. (1996). Will to truth: Works of different years. Moscow: Kastal Publ., pp. 448.
- [6] Gefen, L'ethique est-elle un recit? Le recit est-il une ethique? Retour sur la que relle du «narrativisme». (2010). Rev.de philologie, 37(2), 157-166
- [7] Kiseleva, (2012). The religious and ethical ideal of M. Lermontov: the origins of formation and artistic embodiment. Acta Univ. Lodsientis.Folia literaria rossica. Lodz., 5, 30-40.
- [8] Library of Ancient Rus literature (Vol.4.). (1997). St. Petersburg: Nauka Publ., pp. 423.
- [9] Library of Ancient Rus literature (Vol.10). (1997). St. Petersburg: Nauka Publ., pp. 137-140.
- [10] MacKinnon, C. A. (1991). Toward a Feminist Theory of the State. Massachusetts, USA: Harvard University Press, pp. 349.
- [11] Makarov, D. and Makarova, S. (2013). The Ideal of Man in Russian Literature (From Ancient Rus to the Twentieth Century): Christian Context. State Academy of Slavic Culture, Moscow, pp. 116.
- [12] Masionis, J. (2004). Sociology. St. Petersburg: Peter, pp. 752
- [13] New philosophical encyclopedia, 2000-2001. (2000). Moscow: Mysl', pp. 723
- [14] Rogover, S. (2012). The axiological analysis of a literary work. University scientific journal, 3, 110-119.
- [15] Shishkin, (2013). Phenomenon of "secular holiness" in Russiann literature of the 19 century. Journal of Russian Culture, 9, 168-180.
- [16] The morbidity of culture: melancholy, trauma, illness and dying in literature and film. (2012). Frankfurt-a-Main: Peter Lang, pp. 162
- [17] Teodorescu, Death representation in literature. Cultural illusions and theoretical principles. (2012) Studia Univ. Babes-Bolyai Philologia. Cluj-Napoca, 4, 5-22.
- [18] Vorobyeva, S.Yu. (2013). Theoretical and methodological basis of gender studies in literary criticism. Philology. Questions of theory and practice, 1, 48-51.
- [19] Voronova, L.J., A.N. Pashkurov, A.I. Razzhivin, R.B. Sabirov and N.N. Muslimova, (2015). Culticural Problem of Woman's Position in Society and Family in Focus of Literary Studies and Medicine. Asian Social Science, 11(19), 137-142.
- [20] Women Writers in Russian Literature. (1994). Westport, CT: Praeger, pp. 283.
- [21] Women in Nineteenth-Century Russia: Lives and Culture. (2012). Cambridge, U.K.: Open Book Publishers, pp. 249.