

Energy saving testing of circuits

Latypov P.

Kazan Federal University, 420008, Kremlevskaya 18, Kazan, Russia

Abstract

A question is considered as to the development of a procedure of testing combinational circuits with due regard for the power consumed during tests. It is shown that in the general case, the optimization problem of the consumable energy reduces to the known problem of discrete mathematics - the traveling salesman problem. © 2001 MAIK "Nauka/Interperiodica".
